

Great Day! Scheduled Tour Summary

A RAILROAD EXPERIENCE

THUR-SAT JULY 12-14, 2018

Departures, as applicable, from North Olmsted, Middleburg Heights, Independence, Beachwood, Boston Heights.

This was a new tour for 2017 and features many of the most popular “railroad experiences” in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania . . . and we’ve managed to include so much into a three-day package at the same competitive price. All Aboardddddddddd!!!!

THURSDAY – Trainmen call it “high balling”, which means that “the track is clear and it is ok to proceed”. While we will be in a motorcoach, we will follow a similar practice as we head for our first stop along the way, in Johnstown, Pennsylvania. Along the way we will be stopping at a destination included last year, the “Big Mac Museum” for something quite unique. The Johnstown area had become known for many things, among them a reputation for its devastating floods. The largest flood in Johnstown’s history occurred in 1889, and the next year, construction began on the “Inclined Railway” to carry people, horses and wagons to the new hilltop community of Westmont. It was renamed and, mid-1891, the Johnstown Inclined Plane began providing convenient transportation up Yoder Hill which had a steep 71% grade. Forty-five years later, flood waters again ran through Johnstown; it proved its worth by carrying almost 4000 residents to safety. It is still in active use today and, in 1977, was called upon once again to carry people up the hill and emergency crews and even boats

All tour details are anticipated at the time that the Scheduled Tour Brochure was prepared and specific stops and/or other inclusions are subject to change or elimination without notice. Tours typically depart between 6 AM and 8 AM with the exact time shown on the itinerary you will receive approximately one to two weeks prior to the tour departure. Most tours return about 8 PM to 10 PM, although this may vary.

down to the flood area. A giant American flag sits atop a 125-foot pole to commemorate the 100-year anniversary of the first flood.

We have also included a short visit to the Johnstown Flood Museum to learn more about the neglected dam and a phenomenal storm that led to a catastrophe as well as the area's triumphant recovery. Afterwards, we will continue eastward into South Central Pennsylvania to check into the Country Inn in one of the oldest inland towns in the United States. We will be staying at the same Inn both nights.

This evening we will be having a full-service plated dinner with several choices of entrees followed by a live musical production of "The Wizard of Oz". There truly is no place like home as this musical captivates you as they travel down the Yellow Brick Road and beyond.

We will be joining Dorothy, Toto, and their friends the Cowardly Lion, Tin Man, and Scarecrow in this production, featuring dazzling choreography and classic songs. It's a spectacular celebration of the 1939 film and should "blow you away" from the moment the tornado touches down until we travel Over the Rainbow. (D, Show)

FRIDAY – Breakfast is included at the hotel before we travel into the borough of Strasburg. Back in 1832, when Andrew Jackson was President, a Special Act of the Pennsylvania Legislature led to the incorporation of the Strasburg Rail Road. Over the years it became an important part of the transportation network in Central Pennsylvania, carrying both freight and passengers. While passenger travel dwindled with the advent of the electric trolley in 1901, the need to carry freight in both World Wars kept the railroad going. One of the first purchases was a steam locomotive and, over the years, 5 additional steam locomotives were purchased including a rare camelback engine that burns anthracite coal. We will be touring the railroad's shops which keep many of the country's steam engines in service, even as far as building the replacement wheels for the large locomotives. Later we will be enjoying our meal aboard the Strasburg Rail Road's Dinner Train.

This museum has more than 100 historic locomotives and railroad cars that chronicle American railroad history, much of it having come from the historical collection of the PRR, the Pennsylvania Railroad, and were on display at the 1939-1940 New York World's Fair; several years later they were placed in storage in a roundhouse in Northumberland, Pennsylvania before being brought to this site along with its animated figures and vehicles plus 22 operating trains. But this is just the start as you will find when we enter the Railroad Museum of Pennsylvania, this time with the actual full-sized trains.

One interactive display allows visitors to "take the throttle" on a simulated run in a real freight locomotive, climb aboard a caboose, inspect a 62-ton locomotive from underneath and view restoration activities via closed-circuit television. This attraction was created to provide a historical account of railroading in Pennsylvania by preserving rolling stock, artifacts, and archives of railroads and trolley companies of the Commonwealth. One part of our visit that most everyone finds especially interesting, is their operating turntable from the Reading Company. The Museum has also acquired a number of pieces created by the Baldwin Locomotive Works, which had operated just outside Philadelphia since the mid-1800s. Following this tour, we will be enjoying the dinner-train previously described before returning to the Inn. You may also hear some interesting stories, such as certain railroaders referring to the steam locomotives that we will be seeing as "calliopes".

SATURDAY – Scranton – After breakfast we will board the coach and travel to Scranton for our visit to the Steamtown National Historic Site; it is located on 62 acres in the downtown area at the site of the former Scranton yards of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad. We will be seeing a working turntable and the roundhouse, reconstructed from the remnants of an original 1932 structure. Many of the steam locomotives and other railroad equipment came from a collection previously owned by a New England millionaire. In 1986 the U.S. House of Representatives began the process of turning it into a National Historic Site and it eventually came under the National Park Service.

We will be seeing a short video production, learning of the history and technology of the steam railroads. Of course, we will be getting up-close to steam and diesel engines (including the Union Pacific # 4012 “Big Boy” (in the photo) and equipment from many other railroads including Milwaukee Road, the Canadian National Railroad, Canadian Pacific, the Nickel Plate Road, Reading Railroad and Grand Trunk Western, to name just a few of them.

Unfortunately, all great rail adventures must come to an end and we will depart for home (or the station) . . . but with a mid-afternoon luncheon at a steak and seafood restaurant which is included along the way. (B, L)
